Sahaj Marg is a spiritual foundation whose core activity is transmission meditation from the heart. Through its global presence with centers and ashrams almost all countries, they provide sittings, group meditations called Satsang and mass meditations called Bhandara. Their new world headquarters at Kanha Shantivanam in the outskirts of Hyderabad was specially designed for Bhandaras which would happen four times in a year each for approximately three days attracting almost 40,000 to 60,000 people. The new meditation hall was designed for this very purpose. The aim of the project was to have all the followers called Abhyasis, sit together and meditate in the presence of the master. The Bhandara usually goes on for three days and the people joining the Bhandara has to reside in the campus. So the emphasis was given to the journey of the people dedicated to a process of inner development under the guidance of a spiritual leader ensuring a user friendly and smooth conclave.
